AUTHOR GUIDELINES

About the Journal

ZANKHANA International E-Journal is a multidisciplinary scholarly journal that provides a platform for researchers, academicians, educators, professionals, practitioners, and students to share original research and scholarly contributions across diverse academic disciplines.

The journal welcomes manuscripts in accordance with its stated Aim and Scope and applicable editorial and publication policies.

Scope of Submissions

The journal considers scholarly contributions in areas including Education, Arts and Humanities, Commerce, Science, Social Sciences, Management, and interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary studies.

The following types of manuscripts may be considered:

- Original Research Papers
- Review Articles and Literature Reviews
- Conceptual and Theoretical Papers
- Case Studies
- Analytical Studies
- Technical Notes
- Book Reviews and other relevant scholarly contributions

Originality and Exclusivity

Submitted manuscripts must be original and must not have been published previously in substantially the same form or be under simultaneous consideration by another journal.

Authors must disclose relevant preprints, conference publications, related manuscripts, or overlapping content at the time of submission. All sources must be properly acknowledged and cited.

Manuscript Preparation

Authors should prepare manuscripts in a clear, consistent, and academically appropriate format.

- Language: English, Hindi, Gujarati, or Sanskrit, subject to the journal's language and editorial requirements.

- Title: Concise, informative, and relevant to the study.
- Author Details: Full names, Designation, College name, institutional affiliations, and email address of the corresponding author.
- Abstract: A brief summary of the research objectives, methodology, major findings, and conclusions.
- Keywords: Relevant terms that represent the principal themes of the manuscript.
- Main Text: Organize the manuscript into appropriate sections, such as Introduction, Review of Literature, Objectives, Methodology, Results, Discussion, and Conclusion, where applicable.
- References: All cited sources must be listed accurately and consistently using the referencing style specified by the journal.
- Tables and Figures: Number and title all tables and figures and acknowledge sources where applicable.

Detailed formatting requirements, including word limits, font, spacing, abstract length, and reference style, should be followed as specified in the journal's current manuscript template or submission instructions.

Authorship and Affiliations

Authorship must reflect genuine scholarly contributions. All listed authors must approve the final manuscript and agree to its submission.

Authors must provide accurate names, affiliations, and contact details. Any change in authorship after submission requires a valid justification and the agreement of all concerned authors.

Plagiarism and Similarity Screening

All manuscripts must comply with the journal's Plagiarism Policy. Appropriate similarity-detection tools may be used during editorial screening.

Similarity reports are evaluated in context; a similarity percentage alone does not establish plagiarism. Manuscripts involving plagiarism, inadequate attribution, or other serious originality concerns may be returned for correction or rejected.

Research Ethics

Authors must ensure that their research is conducted responsibly and that findings are reported accurately.

For research involving human participants, animals, personal data, or sensitive information, authors must provide relevant ethical approval, informed consent, permissions, or other documentation where applicable.

Fabrication, falsification, misleading reporting, and other forms of research misconduct are unacceptable.

Peer Review and Editorial Decisions

Manuscripts are subject to an initial editorial assessment and, where appropriate, peer review in accordance with the journal's Peer Review Policy.

Editorial decisions are based on the manuscript's relevance, originality, scholarly quality, methodological soundness, and compliance with publication ethics. Submission does not guarantee acceptance or publication.

Authors may be asked to revise their manuscripts in response to editorial or reviewer comments.

References and Copyright

Authors must cite all sources accurately and obtain permission to reproduce copyrighted material wherever required.

Authors are responsible for the accuracy of references, quotations, data, figures, and other material included in their manuscripts. Copyright ownership, publication rights, and licensing arrangements are governed by the journal's Copyright Policy and applicable publication agreement.

Use of Artificial Intelligence

Authors remain fully responsible for the accuracy, originality, and integrity of their submissions. AI-assisted tools must not be listed as authors.

Where required by the journal's AI policy, authors must disclose the use of generative AI or other AI-assisted tools in preparing the manuscript. Authors must verify all AI-generated content, references, data, and claims before submission.

Manuscript Submission

Authors should submit their manuscripts through the submission method officially specified on the journal's website or communicated by the editorial office.

Submissions should include:

- The complete manuscript.
- Accurate author and affiliation details.
- An originality and exclusive-submission declaration, where required.

- Ethical approval, consent, copyright permissions, or other supporting documents, where applicable.

Authors should retain a copy of the submitted manuscript and respond promptly to editorial communications.

Revision and Final Proof

Authors invited to revise a manuscript should address editorial and reviewer comments carefully and submit a revised version within the specified timeframe.

Authors must review the final proof, where provided, and report any remaining errors before publication.

Publication Charges

Any applicable submission fees, article processing charges, or other publication charges will be communicated transparently through the journal's official website or editorial office. Authors should consult the journal's current Article Processing Charges (APC) Policy before submission.

Corrections, Retractions, and Appeals

Authors must inform the editorial office if they discover significant errors in a submitted or published article.

Corrections, retractions, complaints, and appeals will be handled in accordance with the journal's Publication Ethics and relevant editorial policies.

Final Declaration

By submitting a manuscript to ZANKHANA International E-Journal, authors confirm that the information provided is accurate, the manuscript complies with the journal's applicable policies, all co-authors have approved the submission, and all relevant ethical and copyright requirements have been addressed.
